

School of Allied Health Professions

Recorded Seminar 2.0 CE $30

Therapeutic Powers of Play Therapy: Connecting Play Therapy Theories with Practice

Erin Dugan, Ph.D., LPC-S, Registered Play Therapist

Description

There are known to be 20 core, therapeutic powers inherent in play therapy. Play therapy facilitates not only growth and development, but play therapy therapeutic powers that allow children and adolescents to discover, enhance, and connect with themselves and others. This play therapy webinar will engage participants in the discovery of the benefits of play and moreover, facilitative change agents of play that allow for a greater understanding for the need of play in our lives.

Objectives

1. Participants will list and describe each of the therapeutic powers of play inherent in play therapy.
2. Participants will identify key aspects of the therapeutic powers of play inherent in play therapy.
3. Participants will analyze the benefits of play therapy for children and adolescents.

LCA Content Areas: Counseling Theory, the Helping Relationship, Appraisal of the Individual

APT Content Areas: General